

TALENT FOR GOOD

Jumpstart Your Salesforce Career

The Salesforce economy is booming, and so are the number of reputable employers looking to hire top talent to manage their Salesforce platform. However, landing your first job can be difficult when employers are expecting their candidates to have hands-on experience and relevant Salesforce certifications.

Cloud for Good is here to help close that skills gap with Talent for Good.

What is Talent for Good?

Talent for Good jumpstarts your career by providing you with experience, mentorship, and training within the Salesforce ecosystem through our paid apprenticeship program.

Once you join a Talent for Good cohort, you will be onboarded as a Cloud for Good employee, be paid from day one, and receive access to our robust benefits including health, vision, and dental coverage.

As a Talent for Good apprentice, you will undergo an immersive training program and, upon completion, be assigned to work with one of our great clients for the remainder of your apprenticeship, during which you will receive support through mentorship and training.

At the end of your apprenticeship, you will have many career options. The intention is that you and your client have enjoyed working together and that you transition into a full-time direct employee of your client.
